

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to air the biased political show "Stolen Honor" is inappropriate. Clearly, the show is political propaganda, not an objective documentary.

If Sinclair Broadcasting persists in airing "Stolen Honor," it should also consider balancing with a propaganda piece for the other side, such as "Fahrenheit 9/11." Neither piece is objective, and, in fairness, neither should be aired, but if you're going to use public airways for one side, then you should be fair to the other side.

I hope Sinclair decides not to air "Stolen Honor." The FCC needs to do its job and prevent such propaganda.
